THE STORY OF THE OHIO STATE BAR FOUNDATION

The Ohio State Bar Foundation (OSBF) is a 501(c)(3) grantmaking organization. It's the largest Bar Foundation in the United States and gives grants and supports programs that address specific legal needs, honors the accomplishments of the legal community, and has built an army of attorneys across the state who support and fight for the OSBF's mission.

As the charitable arm of the Ohio State Bar Association (OSBA), the OSBF works with the Association's member attorneys, nonprofit and for-profit organizations, and other Ohioans to advance the state's laws to build a better justice system. The Foundation is the oldest of the Association's affiliates, first organized to conduct legal research and then later utilized to raise funds to build the Ohio Legal Center building.

Now, the OSBF focuses exclusively on grantmaking, a Fellows Program, and an Awards Program. Each year, the OSBF awards more than $750,000 to Ohio nonprofits, who support our mission and work with the legal system and their communities. We are able to do this, in part, thanks to our Fellows, who are member attorneys of the Foundation. They represent an elite group of Ohio lawyers who give their time, talent, and treasure so that we can give more and do more. And we don't let the good deeds of Ohio attorneys or organizations go unnoticed. Every year, we honor excellence through our well-known Awards Program, celebrating people and organizations who work tirelessly and show endless dedication to the law, to our communities, and to our entire state.

Look ahead to learn the ins and outs of each of OSBF's three major programs.

GRANTS

As a charitable grantmaking organization, the OSBF awards grants each spring and fall to Ohio nonprofits addressing specific, unmet legal needs in our communities. Since 1992, the Foundation has awarded more than 12.5 million dollars to dozens of law-related philanthropic organizations and projects across Ohio. Over time, grants have supported the creation of legal materials, new websites, campaigns, clinics, conferences, trainings, presentations, and more.

During our most recent grant cycle, we awarded grants to the following organizations to support their missions and projects:

Ohio Center for Law-Related Education

...to further develop and expand its student programs, teacher professional development opportunities, and outreach efforts. Through OCLRE, students can access high-quality civics content and have an opportunity to practice responsible citizenship through the study of the U.S. Constitution, judicial system, and community impact of social issues. Educators learn valuable teaching strategies, create lesson plans and student activities, and share substantive knowledge through OCLRE professional development opportunities.

United Way of Greater Cleveland

...for their Right to Counsel - Cleveland Community Education and Awareness Campaign, which works to educate the Cleveland community on a recent court rule change entitling tenants to legal representation in city eviction proceedings.

Advocates for Basic Legal Equality

... for Medicaid Developmental Disability Waivers and You. The program will provide legal information to individuals with developmental disabilities, their families, and disability-rights advocates on the three types of waivers available, their rights and eligibility, and the application and appeals process.

OHIO VOICE Ohio Voice

... to expand the Ohio Fair Courts Speakers Bureau, which conducts "Courts 101" presentations that engage and train new speakers and organizations in Dayton, Cincinnati, Akron, and Cleveland.

National Alliance for Mental Illness (NAMI) Ohio

... for Answering the Calls of Veterans in Crisis. With this grant, NAMI Ohio will hold a one-day conference for judges, law enforcement officers, mental health professionals, and veteran outreach coordinators to encourage collaborative efforts for deescalating veterans facing unique problems, such as traumatic brain injury, PTSD, substance abuse, depression, and other mental, physical, and emotional challenges.

Council on American-Islamic Relations (CAIR) Ohio

... for Know Your Rights Legal Fellow. The grant supports the development of "Know Your Rights" legal materials that will help educate the Ohio Muslim community on legal issues specific to them and other general legal topics.

Ohio State Legal Services Association

... for the Ohio Poverty Law Center's Advocacy Skills Training. Legal aid attorneys will have the opportunity to participate in a two-day advocacy training where they'll engage in group presentations, discussions, and small group exercises to help them better understand the legislative process and increase their level of engagement in statewide policy.

In 2018, OSBF also awarded its first-ever strategic grant, which aims to improve the civics knowledge of Ohio adults, to Issue Media Group (IMG). With the grant money, IMG has created Civics Essential: Ohio, a series and initiative that includes feature stories and corresponding surveys published in Soapbox Cincinnati, Fresh Water Cleveland, and The Hub Springfield and live and virtual events. The grant has continued since its inception and will conclude after the three-year term. To learn more about this grant and see IMG's content, visit OSBF.org/StrategicGrants.

AWARDS

The OSBF believes that lawyers, judges, and organizations who work to improve the law and build a better justice system deserve to be recognized for their efforts. Our award winners lead their communities in volunteer service, both in and outside of the legal profession, setting an example of what it means to give back and better their communities.

Each year, we bring people together from across Ohio to honor true excellence in the profession and give out the following awards:

The Ritter Award, which is the highest honor awarded by the Foundation and is given to an attorney for a lifetime of service. Last year's award was given to Richard F. Swope of Swope & Swope, Attorneys at Law. Mr. Swope has spent six decades representing clients and advocating for inmate rights to help provide better access to Ohio's legal system.

The Ramey Award for Distinguished Community Service, which is given to an Ohio attorney whose career has been exemplified by his or her dedication to public and community service, as well as integrity, honor, courtesy, and professionalism. Last year's award was given to Donald H. Messenger of Thompson Hine, LLP. Mr. Messenger has undertaken significant volunteer leadership roles with multiple charitable organizations in Northeast Ohio, including the United Way of Greater Cleveland, Legal Aid, Gateway Economic Development Corporation, and the Cleveland Hearing and Speech Center.

Outstanding Program or Organization Award, which highlights a program or organization that promotes improvement in the Ohio justice system. Last year's recipient, the Ohio Crime Victim Justice Center, is a statewide nonprofit organization that ensures that state and federal crime victims are treated fairly during the criminal justice process.

Statewide Community Service Award for Attorneys 40 and Under, which is awarded to an attorney under the age of 40 who gives time and talent to serve his or her community. Last year's award was given to Meigs County Prosecuting Attorney James K. Stanley. Mr. Stanley has passionately combatted the opioid epidemic and addiction crisis in Meigs County and has taken proactive measures to prevent addiction and assist recovery before individuals enter the legal system.

FELLOWS

OSBF Fellows is a professional honorary of Ohio lawyers who have demonstrated their dedication to the highest ideals of the legal profession. They represent the state of Ohio and justice system – from rural towns to big cities, large law firms to sole proprietors, judges to prosecutors. When Fellows join the OSBF, they pledge their time, talent, and treasure to advance the Foundation’s mission of educating the public on the rule of law. This is done through community service efforts, educational presentations, and monetary donations.

Though the OSBF has welcomed Fellows for several years, its first official class was inducted in 1998. This kicked off the Foundation’s now long-standing and successful program and the start of the Fellows Class Projects. Since its inception, significant projects have included the creation of the Ohio Jury Management Association, the Light the Way Campaign, and the children’s book Did Not! Did Too!

Today, OSBF has more than 1,000 Fellows who have joined its ranks. These attorneys are always ready to help the Foundation, whether through volunteering their time, sharing the OSBF story, or completing their pledge.

VIDEOS

There's no better way to share the OSBF story than through our grantee videos. Take a look at some of the projects we've funded and the impact they have had on lives around the state.

The Summer Law and Trial Institute is a 12-day immersive program for high school students. Students learn about the criminal justice system and law and justice issues relevant to Southeast Ohio, visit the Supreme Court, meet with lawyers and judges, and conduct a mock trial.

The Ohio State Bar Foundation granted funds in 2016 to Disability Rights Ohio (DRO), a nonprofit with a mission to advocate for the human, civil and legal rights of people with disabilities in Ohio. DRO partnered with the Deaf Services Center to produce 18 videos that translate legal matters into American Sign Language for the deaf community.

The University of Akron School of Law has developed a series of legal clinics designed to help ex-offenders apply for a Certificate of Qualification for Employment (CQE). Once obtained, a CQE enables recipients to become eligible for certain jobs from which they were barred due to prior convictions.

Through grants from the Ohio State Bar Foundation, the Ohio Justice & Policy Center and Advocating Opportunity created programs to help survivors of human trafficking clear their criminal records and understand their rights.

Catholic Charities Corporation has a long history of helping immigrants. When working with minors, this often means assisting them at the Cleveland Immigration Court. These young people often came alone - scared, confused, and lost without the ability to read or understand the language. Thanks to a grant from the Ohio State Bar Foundation, Catholic Charities was able to develop an immigration information program geared to the needs of these minors.
